Reeves-Open evenings. ANACOSTIA HAPPENINGS

Narrow Escape of a Street Car at a B. and O.

Driver Broke Down a Safety Gate and on Regular Schedule.

The need of a watchman at the Baltimore and Ohio railroad crossing on Monroe street, Anacostia, was again shown Friday afternoon, when an accident to a street car filled with passengers was narrowly averted. A shifting engine was at work near the power house of the Capital Railway Company, when car 13 of the Anacostia Railway Company, bound for Anacostia, attempted to cross. The gates were not lowered, and the driver was unable, on account of obstructions, to see the engine.

Some boys, seeing the danger, lowered the safety gates, and left the street car between them. Driver Newton, by forcing his norse ahead, broke down the gate and so brought his car and passengers out of denger. The car was slightly damaged and the front safety gate was entirely de-

A few evenings ago car 31 of the Anacos tia line barely cleared the Monroe street crossing as a fast train dashed by, going, the police estimate, at twenty-five miles There is no regular watchman at the crossing, though the freight agent some-times acts in that capacity. It is impossi-ble to hear or see trains when vehicles are bic to hear or see trains when vehicles are appreaching the place from either side.

The Soldiers' Home Dramatic Company appeared at St. Elizabeth's Hall Friday evening in the three-act comedy, "A Russian Honeymoon." The company was enthusiastically received. Those in the cast were Miss Grace Ross, Miss Edith Griffin, Miss Eicheiberger, Messrs. R. W. Test, W. S. Hutchinson, Harry English and E. R. Conner.

Mr. James H. Reagan of Asheville, N. C., who has been visiting relatives here, has returned home. His wife, Mrs. Clara G. Reagan, is detained here by the illness of her mother, Mrs. Grimes. The Capital Railway Company began operating two cars on a regular schedule yesterday. Free transfers were issued for the first time to the Capital Traction Com-pany's cars at the navy yard terminus, The cars were well patronized all day. It is hoped by the officials of the Capital company to have two more cars running this week.

It is understood that the Rev. Dennis F.
McCormack of Washington, who was elevated to the priesthood last Saturday, at the ordination in Baltimore, will be appointed assistant to Rev. M. P. Sullivan, pastor of St. Teresa's Church.
Pedestrians and bicyclists from Washing ton were out in force yesterday in the woods about the county gathering holly and evergreens. The members of St. Teresa's Dramatic Club are rehearsing two operettas for pres-entation shortly.

Holiday Buying Simplified.

They were in an F street car, west-bound. The brune matron was radiant with satisfaction. The blonde woman locked anxious and worried. She noticed the other's evident happiness and remarked on it.

"My holiday troubles are over," said the brune, cheerily. "I came down this morning, made all my purchases, and am now going home, free from further care about going home, free from further care about Christmas gifts."

"Mercy, you are fortunate!" ejaculated the bionde. "I've been shopping four days, and I haven't even commenced to get what I want. How did you contrive to get through so quickly?"

"The simpliest way in the world," said the brune. "You know these big, modern stores keep everything anybody could possibly want; so I determined I'd get all my holiday things at Woodward & Lothrop's. They have, you know a splendid system there. You can get what is called a purchasing card. Then you go through the store. The clerks write down everything you buy, and the price of it, on the card, and you go from one counter to another without any bother about waiting for change or bundles."

"You don't say!" exclaimed the blonde.

"Yes, indeedy. And when you have finished getting your things, you go to the purchasing card office, on the first floor, and all your bundles are there, waiting for you, and you pay for everything at once. And if you have gotten anything for send.

and all your bundles are there, waiting for you, and you pay for everything at once. And if you have gotten anything for sending to far-away friends, you can have them packed for the express. My, Belle, I never had such an easy time at Christmas in my ife."

"I'll go right there tomorrow," said the bkide, her face lighting up. "You have certainly lifted a big load off my mind."

Dr. Sheldon Jackson Reports on Crops Grown

Enough Vegetables Could Be Raised to Supply the Settlers-Need of an Experiment Station.

Reports have been transmitted to the Speaker of the House of the commissioners who were sent last summer to Alaska to report on its agricultural possibilities. The investigations of two of these have been previously published in 'The Star. The preliminary report of Dr. Sheldon Jackson of the bureau of education to the commissioner of education on the agricultural and horticultural conditions in the Yukon valley has not been published.

"On the 30th of April last," says Dr. Jackson, "I had the honor to receive through you a request from the Honorable the Secretary of Agriculture, that I should secure, during my expected tour of Alaska, such items as I could with reference to the agricultural and horticultural possibilities of the region adjacent to the Yukon river. "In compliance with that request, I beg permission to submit herewith the following preliminary report to the Honorable the Secretary of Agriculture: "Leaving Washington on the 1st of June, "Leaving Washington on the 1st of June, I embarked at Seattle on the steamship Portland on the 12th, reaching Unalaska on the 21st and St. Michael, sixty miles above the mouth of the Yukon river, on the 26th, Taking passage on the river steamer P. B. Weare, we left St. Michael July 5, entering the north channel of the Yukon delta, a distance of seventy-two miles, that same forenoon. I made a trip up the entire length of the Yukon river through Alaska into the northwest territory of Canada to Dawson (Kiondike), a distance of 1,652 miles, I reached Dawson July 25, and after remaining there two days, left for my return trip down the river, reaching St. Michael August 24, having spent nearly two months in inspecting the river.

"While Alaska will never be an agricultural state in the same sense in which that term is understood in the Mississippi valley, yet it has agricultural capacities much in advance of the public sentiment of the

"At Koserefski, 328 miles from the mouth of the river, and at Anvik, 355 miles, I found gardens kept by the Roman Catholic Mission at the former place, and the Protestant Episcopal Mission at the latter place, estant Episcopal Mission at the latter place, at which were grown the following vegeta-bles: Potatoes, turnips, cauliflowers, rad-ishes, lettuce, cabbage, carrots and beets and peas. I saw potatoes about seven or eight inches long and three inches in diameter; tumips weighing ten pounds. In the same region the following berries were growing: Wild whortleberries, salmon berries, bearberries, blueberries, blackberries, redberries, currants, both red and black, crowberries, cranberries, raspberries, straw-berries, and junior berries. A species of berries and juniper berries. A species of red-top grass abounds the entire length of the Yukon valley, ranging from three to six feet in height

At Circle City.

"At Circle City, 1,322 miles from the mouth of the river, and Fort Cudahay, 1,522 miles from the mouth of the river, on the edge of the Canadian boundary, I found a few good gardens generally kept by the commercial companies. At Fort C. lahay, peas, beans, beets, radishes, lettuce, cabbage seemed to be thriving in the garden. At Circle City, lettuce, radishes, onions, turnips and peas for early use are sowed on the roofs of the houses, the log cabins being covered with dirt roofs, and the warmth of the houses probably conveying heat to the soil on the roofs. Eight miles heat to the soil on the roofs. Eight miles from Circle City a good garden has been established by a gentleman to supply the miners with fresh vegetables. Six miles below Circle City Mr. R. Wilson, who fur-nishes cord wood for the steamers, is ac-customed when an opening is made in the woods sufficiently large to let the sun reach the ground to loosen the soil between the roots and stumps and sow turnip seed. In 1836 he marketed 3,000 pounds of turnip, re-ceiving 15 cents a pound for the same.

"A large vegetable garden has been es-tablished on the Canadlan side opposite Dawson, the capital of the Klordike mining "These general observations go to show that, with the establishment of an experiment station and intelligent gardening, sufficient vegetables could be raised in the Yukon valley for home consumption." Various Crops Grown.

Mr. A. C. True, director of the office of experiment stations, in his letter of transmittal says that various crops, grasses vegetables, as well as berries, are successfully grown in different localities in Alaska and live stock is kept in small numbers. Very little attention has been paid to promoting the development of agriculture there, he says, by the study of local conditions of soil and climate. Probably for an indefinite period the agriculture of Alaska will be subsidiary to other industries, such as mining, fisheries and others.

There has been a rapid development of mining. The industries the natives depend on are declining, such as sea otter hunting and the like. It is hard to sustain the native population, so that it will be important to make most of such agriculture as can be carried on in Alaska.

Mr. True, therefore, recommends that the government continue its investigations and government continue its investigations and government continue its investigations and undertake experiments especially adapted to Alaskan conditions, with a view of introducing the best methods and best crops for that region. He believes if this is done great disappointment and loss on the part of incoming settlers will be avoided.

Secretary Wilson of the Department of Agriculture sends a letter of transmittal with the reports. He hopes the appropriation of $15,000 for the investigations and establishment of experiment stations will be made. Heedungters will nearly the formula to the second of the second second of the second made. Headquarters will probably be es-tablished at Sitka, and co-operation will be had from persons in the state, who will be induced to raise crops under the directions

An Expert Piano Dealer.

There are in Washington some fifteen or more dealers in music and pianos, a few of whom are exclusively plano dealers. Among the latter there is one who is peculiarly suited to the piano trade, because he combines the experience of a musician of wide knowledge with that of a practical piano maker and seller. Mr. D. G. Pfeiffer is the one referred to, and his warerooms are located at 929 F street. Mr. Pfeiffer was elected a member of the Musical Manuelected a member of the Musical Manuscript Society of New York some four years ago, in recognition of his ability as a composer and pianist.

The line of pianos sold by Mr. Pfeiffer includes the Hazelton piano, an instrument which enjoys the distinction of being the most expensively made piano of America and the choice of the higher class of musical people. It is not one of the popular makes because it is not kept before the public by popular means, but for fifty years it has maintained an aristocratic position of its own, undisputed even by its comof its own, undisputed even by its competitors.

Another make of plano sold by Mr. Pfeif-fer is the widely known and always liked Vose & Sons plano of Boston, a make known wherever planos are used and by every one who listens to them.

Mr. Pfeiffer pays personal attention to the details of his growing business, and the results are satisfying to every patron, whether it is the purchase of an expensive instrument or the tuning of a piano. Prices are low, terms are easy and satisfaction is assured when dealing with him.

Accident to a Wheelman.

Franklin T. Howe, jr., living on Philadelphia street between 12th and 13th streets Brookland, met with a painful accident in that suburb last evening. He was coming down 12th street and at the crossing of Fort street he took his foot from the pedal, when just then the wheel struck a cobble stone and Mr. Howe was thrown headlong stone and Mr. Howe was thrown headlong to the ground. He was stunned by the fail, but soon recovered consciousness and was taken to O'Donnell's drug store, where his injuries, which consisted of bruises about his face and a badly cut lip, caused by his teeth being forced through, were dressed by Dr. Williams. He was then taken to the home of his parents, where a further examination was made by Dr. J. Henry Brooks. His injuries are painful, but are not deemed serious at present.
